

Let's Learn KENTUCKY

DID YOU KNOW that only half of Kentucky's children are ready for kindergarten without extra supports? We can all do our part to empower parents and caregivers to be a child's best first educator.

Let's Learn Kentucky is a parent- and caregiver-friendly website where families can find information and resources to help their children learn and grow.

LetsLearnKY.org:

- Answers common questions about what kindergarten readiness looks like for children and their families.
- Provides tips and activities that families can do together.
- Offers helpful in-state and national resources about high-quality learning environments, child development milestones, and ideas for building partnerships between families and educators.
